

Pistacia chinensis

Keith Davey

Pistacia chinensis Keith Davey

A wonderful tree with outstanding brilliant red/orange fall color. This male form is easier to keep and shape. A must for the Southern garden that longs for fall color. This tree may be an ugly duckling in youth, but give it a year - you'll be pleased. Mature height is around 35 feet under cultivation, and width is 30 feet. Tolerant of a wide range of soils and is very drought tolerant.
